The menu and the bonbons were identical to those served at the head table. Following was the menu:

/Ing was the mount of the MENU.

White Wine.

Oysters on the Half-Shell.

Harlequin Sandwiches.

Addehes.

Harlequin Sandwiches.

Harlequin Sandwiches.

Pladiehes,
Salted Almonds.

Lobster Newberg, with Mushrooms.

Sweetbréads, Henry IV, Peas.
Champagne.

Moet and Chandon "White Scal."
Terrapin, Baltimore Style.

Smithfield Cold Ham, with Asparagus.
Virginia Sora on Toast.
Salad, Gelery and Heart of Lettuce.
Glace.
Appollinaris.
Petits Fours. / Bonbons.

Lion Lithia Water. Peppermints.
Cafe.
Cigars and Cigarettes.
Chief Executive Enters.

Chief Executive Enters.

Clears and Clearettes.

Chief Executive Enters.

Before the guest of honor entered all had found their places and stood waiting to salute the chief executive, who entered accompanied by Mayor McCarthy and followed by Governor Montague, Senator Martin, Mr. John L. Greenway. Mr. McIlhenny, Mr. John P. Branch, Mr. Joseph Bryan, Surgeon-General Rixey, Judge Ben T. Crump Hon. John Lamb, Rev. Ashby Jones, Secretary Loob, Colonel Archer Anderson and Mr. George W. Stevens, all of whom had seats at the Persident's table.

For a minute every head was bowed while Rev. M. Ashby Jones, D. D., offered a short prayer and their innehem was served. Quiet reigned for a very brief space, but the President, happy in a holiday mood, led the laughter at his inble and set an example of comradence that the guests were not slow to follow. Lobster had barely succeeded oysters when the sympathetic note was touched and, as some one said, President Roosevelt was adopted and christened a Virginian.

The scene was brilliant not only with the glorious color of flowers and flags which literally covered the ceiling and walls, but was alive with color of unforms. The grey, red and gold of the Howitzers, the blue and white of the Blues, the gorgeous gold laced uniforms of staff officers, and the black and white dress of the President's escort made a way colored moving picture which delighted the eyes.

way colored moving picture when the faint sounds of music, the airs played being "Divisor," "Yankee-Doodle," "America" and "My Country "Tis of Thee," while now and then the hearty, pleasant laugh of the chief magistrate could be heard above the sound of voices and of patriotic melodies.

Coffee and cigars had come when Mayor McCarthy arose. It had been Mayor McCarthy arose. It had been quietly whispered around amongst the "400" that the President would speak briefly, and so the Mayor was greeted with cheers before he made the annuacement.

"I beg to say to you gentlemen," began the mayor," that the committee in charge of this buncheon has laid down the law that no one shall address this audience unless it be the President. He alone will be allowed to speak and my only claim to notice is that I now propose his health and in the name of you all, wish him long life, all happiness and a safe return to his home and fanily, I have no hestitency in saying that I believe Theodore Roosevelt is the happiest man in all the world."

Greeted With Cheers.

Greeted With Cheers.

The remarks of the Mayor were greeted with cheers, and for perhaps two minutes, the air resounded with cries of "Roosevelt." "Roosevelt." "He's all right." When quiet had been restored and the toast drunk, all standing, the President made, in the opinion of all, a most captivating speech.

It was a manly talk to men the words of a friend to friends, and there was not one who listened who did not feel himself drawn close and strong to the man whom a united country honors.

Great Enthusiasm.

Great Enthusiasm.

The President's speech was received with the wildest enthusiasm. Every one stood, napkins were waved, and three cheers were given for "Roosevelt" with a will. An old gentleman, who has been all his life a staunch Democrat cheering as lustily as the youngest and full of admiration for the speaker, said: "If he weatt accept the Republican nomination next time, we'll make him a Democratic Precident."

President again arose, and, in a pleasant way, claimed kinship with a Virginian sitting near him at his table. He told the sitting near him at his table. He told the story of how his great-great-grandfather, a Governor of Georgia, had been succeeded in office by the great-great-grandfather of Mr. Joseph Bryan. The colonial Governors, he said, were nearly related, and so he claimed "kin" with his cousin, Joseph Bryan.

This bit of pleasantry was pleasantly received, and when some one moved that Virginia should adopt the President, the question was put and carried amidst a question was put and carried amidst a great shout of approval.

great shout of approval.

Never perhaps in the history of Richmond has there been an entertainment given which was so complete in every detail and so absolutely in good taste.

There was nothing lacking to make the occasion a memorable one, and the committee having the luncheon in charge deserve the thanks of the citizens of Richmond for the very thoughtful and careful manner in which they performed their duty.

After a flashlight had been taken the President departed for a drive about the Guests at Luncheon.

Among the guests at the luncheon were Archer Anderson, J. R. Anderson, Jr. John Thomas Anderson, General Charles J. Anderson, Otway S. Allen, J. H. Atkisson, Decatur Axtell, Ben. T. August, Thomas Atkinson, W. C. Armitage, J. L. Antrin, J. H. Armitage, H. A. Atkinson, Joseph Bryan, J. Stewart Bryan, Davis Bottom, Dr. C. W. P. Brock, Dr. Lewis C. Bosher, E. Joter Bosher, C. W. Brahch, N. W. Bowe, H. M. Boykin, C. E. Bolling, Thomas Byrne, A. S. Buford, A. S. Buford, Jr., F. W. Boatwright, C. E. Brahch, C. J. Billups, James N. Boyd, George W. Brown, Dr. Alex, G. Brown, Thomas Bolling, Jr., Dr. Greer Baughman, E. A. Baughman, O. H. Berry, Cyrus Bossieux, John Bagby, Joseph P. Brady, L. S. Brown, A. W. Bennett, John J. Crutchnied, Rabbi E. N. Callsch, Judge Bev. T. Crump, L. T. Christian. Guests at Luncheon.

Judge Bev. T. Crump, L. T. Christian.

Rixey.

Hon. Campbell Slemp, Judge R. Carter Scott, Rev. George H. Spooner, O. J. Sands, E. D. Starke, Fritz Sitterding, Senator John W. Daniel, W. D. Duke, Adam Diacont, C. E. Doyle, James H. Dooley, Major Clay Drewry, R. A. Dun-lop, Captain M. J. Dimmock, George B.

Davis.

J. Taylor Ellyson, F. C. Ebel, John S. Ellett, H. W. Ellerson, B. H. Ellington, P. H. Ellington, P. H. Eubank, Rev. R. B. Eggleston.

Hon, H. D. Flood, John C. Freeman, P. M. Fry, John H. Frischkorn, J. P. Fox, W. S. Forbés, B. S. Forbés, W. S. Forbes, B. S. Forbes.

Hon. Carter Glass, Judge Daniel, Grinnan, James R. Gordon, John W. Gordon, Muscoe H. Garnett, A. B. Gulgon, J. T. Goodwin, H. A. Gillis, W. L. Guillaudeu, B. Gallagher, Dr. Ramon D. Garcin. Rev. R. A. Goodwin, R. S. Graham, E. C. Garrison, Charles Gunst, Judge G. Taylor Garnett, John L. Greenway, George E. Gregory, George C. Guvernator, Barton Grundy.

Rev. J. J. Haley, W. T. Hancock, Dr. Virginius Harrison, Charles Hutzler, Dr. Allison Hodges, Rev. Dr. J. B. Haw-thorne, W. M. Habliston, S. H. Hawes, thorne, W. M. Habliston, S. H. Hawes, Eppa Hunton, Jr., William M. Hill, John S. Harwood, G. Percy Hawes, M. De G. Hobson, Waller Holladay, John A. Hutch-eson, Dr. Moses D. Hoge, O. A. Hawkins, John C. Hagan, James Hartley, James C. Harwood, R. H. Harwood, J. L. Hill, C. Hassell, R. H. Hardesty, A. C. Har-man, R. W. Hayard man, R. N. Hazard.

Judge John H. Ingram.
Rev. M. Ashby Jones, Levin Joynes,
B. T. Jellison, Dr. George Ben. Johnston Rev. Ryland Knight, Wray T. Knight,

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly servinoly knows that charcous is the safest and most efficient desirbed and compared to the safest and compared to the

T. Wickham, M. A. Wilbur, Robert Whittet, Sr., T. C. Williams, Jr., Charles Williams, T. W. Wood, G. S. Wray, John G. Walker, David B. Welsiger, Joseph Wallerstein, Ro. L. Winston, Gordon Wallace, Alfred B. Williams, John L.

Wallerstein, Ro. L. Winston, Gordon Wallace, Alfred B. Williams, John L. Williams, John L. Williams, I. C. Younger.
Colonel George Wayne Anderson, Major C. Gray Bossieux, Captain J. C. Hosher, Lieutenant W. E. Thompson, Lieutenant Russel E. Norvell, Lieutenant Truman A. Parker, General Scott Shipp, Major Lewis H. Strother, Lieutenant Nichols, Lieutenant Sutherland, Major L. L. Cheatwood, Captain Charles M. Edwards, Lieutenant T. M. Hobson, Lieutenant D. A. Richie, Lieutenant Frank D. Epps, Colonel William Thompson, Captain William M. Myers Lieutenant F. W. Minson, Lieutenant E. C. Rese, Serganis P. H. Fubank, H. P. Poindexter, W. H. Mason, G. S. Wray, J. C. Pollard, J. H. Armitage, J. T. Wood, Corporals J. B. Poindexter, T. M. Ladd, H. F. Levering, G. H. Myers, R. N. Rowsey, Privates R. S. Graham, R. R. Lunsford, J. H. Atkisson, J. W. Myers, W. L. Tisdale, W. H. Cowardin.

MANY THOUSANDS OF STRANGERS IN CITY

Every Train and Interurban Car Richmond Bound Was Crowded.

Crowded.

According to the officials of all the railroad entering Richmond, and also of the interurban street car line to Petersburg, many thousands of visitors witnessed the narade and the exercises that followed. From early in the morning until late in the afternoon the cars from Petersburg were crowded with persons anxious to get a glimpse of the President. Banners waved from the car windows and the cheering of the young people was heard all along the line. Chesterfield and Dinwiddle counties, especially, sent their delegations to Richmond to mingle with the crowd, be jostled by the curious throng and ordered back behind the lines by the police. Three extra cars were placed on the Petersburg line, and one other went to Bellwood and returned with the crowds that wished to get to the city early. Where three cars were used on the line when no great excitement is in Richmond, seven cars were used yesterday, six on the main line that went through from both ends, and one local car. Over one thousand people came from the contiguous territory to Richmond.

The railroad companies did everything possible for the accommodation of the throngs who wished to see Theodore Roosevelt. All through trains stopped at every station to take on passengers. The Atlantic Coast Line ordered all of its trains to stop everywhere and bring the people who wished to come to Richmond.

Brought in Many Hundreds.

Old Folks

need plenty of nourishment and more than ordinary blood-forming elements. These they obtain in their highest form in

ANHEUSER-BUSCH'S Malt Sutrine

This Predigested food-drink can be retained by the weakest stomach and new strength obtained from the first wine-glassful. Sold by all druggists and grocers.

Prepared by

Anheuser-Busch Brewing Ass'n

St. Louis, U. S. A.

He is Cheered By Thousands As He Drives Through the City.

TALKS TO THE VETERANS

It was 4:80 o'clock when the President left Masonic Temple to visit points of

As he walked bareheaded to the curb to enter his carriage a great deafening shout went up from the thousands who packed into Broad street, had waited patiently for hours to give him an ovation. They gave it with a will, and the wild shout of the Confederate veterans sounded as sharp as did the cry of the school children, while the flutter of Confederate flags mingled peacefully with the strength that was in them. In '98, when we had to face a very little war, our effort was to face it in the spirit in which you had faced the great war. In my regiment I think there were, if anything, more men whose fathers were men whose fathers were the blue, and all alike felt but one impulse, and that was the farmy our effort was to face it in the spirit in which you had faced the great war. In my regiment I think there were, if anything, more men whose fathers were federate flags mingled peacefully with those of the stars and stripes. Every one, from the President to his lowliest very air with which Mr. Roosevelt lifted his top hat was friendly and the smile with which he hypnotized the crowd was serene and Bland. After shaking hands with the poice officers around his car-riage, and thanking them for their care or his safety, he was ready to see all the sights that could be seen in two hours. Some one cried out: 'Arrec-cheers for the Rough Rider," and his brought a smile again to the "Rough Riders" old commander. It may have been the words, it may have been chance, but certain it is that the stately procession that approached Masonic Temple two hours before, left it riding and driving "hell for leather," as the old

Rush for Monument. It was a wild rush to the Lee Monu-ment. A squad of mounted police gal-loped as hard as their horses could lay leg to the ground. Behind came the President's carriage, surrounded by mounted Howitzers, who went to the spur to keep up, while behind and before on this side and on that rode the

My Friends and Fellow-Americans,—I wish to say just one word of greeting to you. I honor the State of Virginia because she has taken charge of the Confederate veterans in their old age. All Americans, North of South, must ever render high honor to the men of the Civil War, whether they wore the blue or whether they wore the state of the confederation. whether they wore the gray, so long at they did their duty as the light was given

IN YOUR OFFICE. will enable you to transact the greater part of your business without leaving your desk, saves time and money. Try Our rates are reasonable. Call telephone No. 3011.

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Co., 711 E. Grace St.

..Special notice..

FINE GROCERIES

and Delicatessen. My old customers, as well as the new, particularly from

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 19th, FROM 10 TO 2 O'CLOCK to inspect this beautiful store and receive a small souvenir.

Refreshments served.

A. ROTHSCHILD.

Here I greet you in the shadow of the Here I greet you in the shadow of the statue of your mighty commander, General Robert E. Lee. You and he left us memories which, inasmuch as they are part of the memories bequeathed to the entire country by all the Americans who fought in the Civil War, are to serve forevernore as spurs and incentives to the generations coming after to teach us and our descendants that, alike in peace and in war, whenever the times that try men's souls may come, we are to rise level to the opportunity as you rose level level to the opportunity as you rose leve level to the opportunity as you rose level to your opportunity, and to be ready to prove, as you proved, our willingness to prove our worth by our endeavor.

Leaving the Lee Monument, the pace was not as fast. All along the route the crowd on the sidewalks and those who thronged the yards and porches shouted words of welcome and good-will. At the Commonwealth Club the citizens' escort was disbanded by Chief Meredith, who took occasion to thank the members of the escort for the excellent manner in which they had turned out. Mr. Meredith said: "The President complimented the escort, and said he had been particularly impressed with the horses and ticularly impressed with the horses and Visits Confederate Museum. The President and its roop of the citizens' secort, mounted on the best horses to be found in the State, and giving a pretty fair example of rough riding.

The President enjoyed the little burst, but not more so than the enormous crowd that througed the streets and cheered the popular idol. Up Grace to Richmond College, thence over to Frank-lin and on to Lee Monument went the smilled the city's guest came to a balt amongst the Confederate with Confederate Minimum and the corrigue in which smilled the city's guest came to a balt amongst the Confederate vertex from the Soldiers' Home.

Greeted With a Yell.

A Confederate yell want up, and Confederate flags waved a cordal welcome, Under the shindow of the statue to Gonfederate flags waved a cordal welcome, under the shindow of the statue to Gonfederate flags and spoke with a quiet earnestness that carried over word of king speech home to his hearers. The thousands who crowded near were forgotten, they were outsiders, for his words were for those old men alone, who had fought under the flag which each one of them carried.

The President and his paper, escortion down franklin to Fifth Street, themee to Grace, the word of greeding to you. The President saw the president stopped for the State and the corrigate in which smilled the city's guest came to a balt which were standing directly in front of list and the corrigation of the state of the Confederate President should be president stopped to the vice of the Confederate President should be president should The President and his party, escorted by the members of the Council and a of handsome American Beauty roses, Leaving the "White House," the route was to Broad Street, down Broad Street Hill and then up the other side to Church Hill and on to St. John's Church. One of the largest crowds of the day was gathered here to see the President, and the police had their work cut out to keep the people back, At the gate the President was met by Dr. Thomas Nelson Prige, Mr. Thomas At-

At the gate the President was also by Pr. Thomas Nelson Page, Mr. Thomas Atkinson and Major Howard, and it was here that he told Dr. Page how greatly he was pleased at his reception, and complimented Major Howard on being a Coufederate Veteran, To one of the citizens' escort who was

To one of the citizens' escort who was in St. John's Church yard, the President advanced, saying: "I want to shake hands with my escort. They were a fine lot of horsemen, and I think I know horsemen when I see them."

At the door of the church the rector, Mr. Goodwin, met the distinguished visitor and escorted him to Patrick Henry's pew, where the President stood thoughtfully and quietly for soveral minutes, He declined to speak, and his behavior was that not of a sightseer, but of one in a place of worship.

was that not of a sightseer, but of one in a place of worship.

Again entering his carriage and bowing continuously to the cheering crowd lining the streets, he was driven to the Soldiers' monument on tilby Hill, thence to Main Street and tation, where he immediately is private car, accompanied by the continuous and Mayor McCarthy.

A few minutes later Mrs. Roosevelt

A few minutes later Mrs. Roosevelt arrived, accompanied by Mrs. Monta-

The train was surrounded by secret service men and by members of the local force of detectives and police, and no one was allowed to enter the cars without

Latest Books, Newest Writing Papers,

Best Fountain Pens. Hunter & Co.'s,

629 E. Broad. Call, 'phone or write.

expressed his appreciation of the welcome he had received, and gave the newspaper views to any newspapers except The Times-Dispatch, sending word by his secretary that he had said all that he could give out.

man the necessary permission to print.

The train, except for a dining and baggage car, was made up entirely of stateroom Pullman cars, fitted up luxuriously. The President's private car was the rear car, and while he waited for 7 o'clock, the hour of departure, to arrive, he sat with Mrs. Roosevelt, several members of his party, observation room. Several ma brought in and presented to Mrs. Roose veit.

Both the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph Companies had special operators and special messenger service at the Main Street station for the use of the President's party.

Before the train pulled out the President sent a messenger to Chief of Police Werner, requesting his presence in his private car.

He shook the chief warmly by the COFFEE NEURALGIA Leaves When You Quit and use Postum.

A lady who unconsciously drifted into nervous prostration brought on by coffee,

Suys:
"I have been a coffee drinker all my life, and used it regularly, three/times a day.

"A year or two ago I became subject "A year or two ago I became subject to nervous neuralgia, attacks of nervous headache and general nervous prostration which not only incapacitated me for doing my housework, but frequently made it necessary for me to remain in a dark room for two or three days at a time,

"I employed several good doctors, one

"I omployed several good doctors, one after the other, but none of them was able to give me permanent relief.
"Eight months ago a friend suggested that perhaps coffee was the cause of my troubles and that I try Postum Food Coffee and give up the old kind. I am glad I took her advice, for my health has been entirely restored. I have no more neuralgia, nor have I had one solitary headache in all these sight months. No more of my days are wasted in solitary confinement in a dark room. I do all my own work with ease. The flesh that I lost during the years of my nervous prostration, has come back to me during these months, and I am once more a happy, healthy woman. I enclose a list of names of friends who can youch for the truth of the statement." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

one was allowed to enter the cars without
It was then that the President east using Postum is sufficient. All grocers.